Integration of RCM at Jentschmann

Dear Sir or Madam

True to the motto "to cooperate in difficult times", RCM Engineering GmbH and Jentschmann AG have been joining forces since 1st November 2020. The goal is the integration of the RCM product range at Jentschmann. Therefore, the development and production of the proven RCM products as well as customer service, including consulting and sales, will be carried out in the name of Jentschmann AG. With this measure Jentschmann AG expands its range of products and secures the after-sales service as well as the product availability for the current RCM customers in the medium and long term.

We are pleased that Thomas Kräuchi has joined Jentschmann AG for this task and thus remains a competent contact person for his customers. He will pass on his longtime know-how in development, construction and customer service to the Jentschmann team and will support them actively in the integration and expansion of the product range.

Following contact persons are at your disposal from now on:

Thomas Kräuchi

Sales, Engineering, Support
